

Enjoy a Good Read and Help Wiltshire's Wildlife

Good books tease, intrigue and challenge. They capture your imagination, transporting you to far flung places, stirring emotions, making you think. And that's exactly what The Snow Fox Diaries by Wiltshire-based author Jan Mazzoni achieves.

Set against the wild, beautiful, often violent world of Exmoor, this compelling novel tells a story about the power of love and what happens when passion becomes obsession. The heroine, Katie Tremain, is chic, intelligent, highly motivated - and unexpectedly unemployed. AND soon to be forty. Not a situation she finds easy to cope with, especially as it gives her time to notice that she and husband Ben seem to get on better when they're apart. So when the opportunity to escape the city and work on a dilapidated house on the edge of Exmoor comes her way, she jumps at the challenge.

Then, one misty summer morning, she chances across something so wonderful, so bizarre that she can't believe her eyes. A fox with fur so white it sparkles, like snow. A rare, precious and very vulnerable albino vixen. From that moment Katie's days - and her life - will change completely, the fate of her marriage becoming intertwined with that of the fox as both struggle to survive.

Reader's reviews have described The Snow Fox Diaries as "gripping, thought-provoking, absorbing, beautifully written and un-put-downable";

In addition to writing novels, Jan Mazzoni has been a dedicated volunteer for Wild Things Res-Q for several years. She will be donating a percentage from each sale of The Snow Fox Diaries to Wild Things Res-Q. With Christmas around the corner, it's a compelling reason to get your copy!

To place your order, send a cheque made out to J. Hunt to:

Thorn Wood Books,
Wildings,
Hazelbury Hill,
Box,
Wilts
SN13 8LB.

State clearly that you heard about the book from the Wild Things Res-Q website and be sure to include your own name and full address.

Please allow up to 10 days for delivery.

Each book costs £9.99, including postage and packaging.